

BerkeleySoda Hall Expansion

- Construction of new building (24,000gsf) adjacent to Soda Hall (1994).
- Provides space for newly established Jacobs Design Innovation Institute, College of Engineering, to integrate invention, design, and manufacturing in solutions to real-world problems.
- Jacobs Institute would enable students to gain hands-on experience in rapid prototyping, design automation, collaborative teamwork, and venture development.
- Scope of project includes: collaborative design studios, custom prototyping laboratories, global ventures incubator, and private and interactive workspaces.
