

Nathan Brostrom
Executive Vice President, Business Operations, University of California

Nathan Brostrom was appointed Executive Vice President for Business Operation on January 21, 2010. In that capacity, Mr. Brostrom serves as chief administrative officer for the University of California system, with responsibility over systemwide budget, facility construction and maintenance, real estate management, human resource administration, institutional advancement and information technology support. He also oversees the budget and administration of the Office of the President, including the ongoing restructuring process. As Executive Vice President, Brostrom is currently responsible for overseeing the design and implementation of new and sustainable funding models for the University, as well oversight over an aggressive and unprecedented initiative to improve administrative efficiency across the ten-campus, five-medical center University of California system.

Brostrom joined the University of California in 2006 as Vice Chancellor for Administration at the Berkeley campus. He was responsible for advising the Chancellor and the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost on all budget and resource management, health and human services, and fiscal planning matters. He managed the campus's annual operating budget of more than $1.8 billion and was responsible for a division that is the largest provider of services to campus staff and a significant provider of services to UC Berkeley students. Before coming to UC Berkeley in 2006, Mr. Brostrom spent ten years as Managing Director and Manager of the Western Region Public Finance group for JPMorgan, where he worked on financings totaling more than $100 billion for municipal clients throughout the western United States. He served as lead banker on the $11.3 billion energy bond program for the California Department of Water Resources, the financing that repaid the state general fund for the lost revenue from the 2000-2001 California energy crisis. Mr. Brostrom also served as a banker for higher education and cultural institutions, including the University of California, Stanford University, and the Getty Trust. Mr. Brostrom graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Stanford University and holds a master's degree in public and international affairs from the Woodrow Wilson School at Princeton University.