Supplementary Conditions

4. Articles, New. Adding a new condition to the General Conditions requires that a new article be added to the Supplementary Conditions. The new article must reference the appropriate General Conditions article and describe the change.
5. Non-compensable Time Extension for Weather. The risk to the project for inclement weather is one of the many risks that is addressed in the University contract. The contract now allocates risk of delay in excess of the specified number of days of anticipated rainy days to the University rather than the Contractor, The number of days specified should not normally exceed the number of days for which rain is anticipated at the project site. This language should be used except for unique projects that cannot be delivered at a date later than the specified Contract Time, without significant hardship to the University. If you contemplate not using the language in the Supplementary Conditions for a "date sensitive" project, please consult the Office of the President.
6. Contractor's Pollution Liability (CPL) insurance. The risk of liability to the University for hazardous material contamination can be managed by requiring the Contractor to provide evidence of insurance coverage for pollution liability and naming the University as an Additional Insured. For projects involving work with hazardous materials, e.g. asbestos abatement, a Facility should normally include such a provision. See the embedded instruction in the Supplementary Conditions. For other projects, a Facility may choose to include this provision if the construction work warrants such pollution coverage and consultation with the campus risk manager is recommended.
7. Patient Health Information. A provision has been added to address the disclosure of Patient Health Information by Contractor and/or to its third parties on Projects at or near clinics or hospitals. See the instructions and provisions in the Supplementary Conditions that have been updated to add new section 14.6
