On July 1, 2020, UCOP will go live with a new financial information system (Oracle) and a new travel system (Concur). We currently use several UCLA systems that are scheduled to be retired; therefore, we are taking the opportunity to transition to financial management solutions that better fit the long-term needs of UCOP.

There will be three key changes to the way you submit requests to the Business Resource Center (BRC):

1. Purchase orders and payments will be conducted through Oracle Financials Cloud, a one-stop shop for all procurement requests, replacing UCLA BruinBuy and eliminating the various forms in ServiceNow for different types of purchases.

2. Transactions will be processed using our new Chart of Accounts instead of the existing Full Accounting Unit (FAU).

3. Travelers and travel proxies will use a new travel system, Concur, which will link to Connexxus for booking and will replace UCLA Express for expense reimbursement.

Register for Training!

You can prepare for the coming changes by signing up for training. The Business Resource Center is offering multiple live training opportunities throughout June. Please register in advance for these courses on the UC Learning Center:

Recordings will be available after the first few sessions. You can find additional resources on the Financial Information System SharePoint site, including recorded information sessions, quick reference guides, and frequently asked questions.
