Date

¹ Initial term is defined as the period of the University's commitment, calculated from the earlier of: (1) commencement of rent payments or (2) possession of the premises, excluding any right to early entry to build out or furnish the space (no more than 60 days). If the agreement contains an early termination right, the initial term commitment is based on the effective date of the University's termination right (e.g. if the initial term is 10 years with a right to terminate at the end of 9 years, the total commitment by the University would be 9 years); however, if authority to execute the lease is based on such shortened term, then any fee associated with the termination right must be amortized over the effective term of the lease for purposes of calculating the initial consideration.
