* Statistically significant differences are indicated with asterisks and darker colors. They are meaningful differences, where we are 95% confident it did not occur by chance. The cut-off for significance varies according to the size of the groups being compared. Small groups require a bigger difference for it to be significant.

WHAT WE COULD DO

"Best practice" suggested actions

- Ensure understanding of the company's long-term goals and strategic direction

 Use team meetings to communicate regular business updates, not only about the team itself but the larger unit of which the team is a part. Track progress toward team goals and engage employees in working toward team targets. When providing progress reports, look for opportunities to show how strategy comes to life and to reinforce how organization values link with decisions made and steps taken to improve the
- Provide employees with the information they need to manage their careers effectively.

 Clarify with your team that both the individual employee and their manager have a role to play in employee development. Employees are ultimately responsible for their own development, whereas managers are accountable for helping them build a realistic plan for achieving it and supporting the execution of that plan.
- Ensure people feel they have enough contact with management.

 Ensure leaders have a regular upward communication channel for employees to share their job-related concerns and issues. Actively seek employee input on making work flow better, ways to reduce waste, opportunities for improving efficiencies and effectiveness and ways to improve working relationships. Increase availability/accessibility to employees during busy periods to provide support and to help them prioritize their responsibilities.
