

2022 UC-Coro
Systemwide Leadership Collaborative
Participant Biographies

Northern Cohort

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

ANGELA CLINE

Director, Business and Financial Analysis Colleges, Housing and Educational Services UC Santa Cruz

Angela Cline is the Director of Business and Financial Analysis for Colleges, Housing and Educational Services at University of California, Santa Cruz. In this role, Angela's responsibilities include budget and fiscal management, analysis, long-range planning, organizational development and business-operations management. Angela participates with other senior managers and divisional counterparts to establish strategic plans and objectives, providing advice and guidance to constituents within the division and throughout the organization.

Angela joined UCSC in 2016 and has over 25 years of experience, being a passionate and strategic leader in finance and operations. Prior to joining UCSC, she was both the Chief Financial Officer and Chief Operating Officer for United Way and First 5 Santa Cruz County. Angela made great impacts where children were ready to succeed in school and life, investing in early learning, healthy living, family support and stability. Prior to transitioning to nonprofit and government initiatives, Angela was a dynamic leader in the real estate and construction industry, overseeing development, finance and operations for both residential and commercial companies.

An advocate for social justice and equity, Angela currently serves as the President of the Board of Directors for the Volunteer Center of Santa Cruz County, is a past President and Treasurer of Monarch Services, an agency dedicated to ensuring lives are free from violence and abuse, and is an active committee member and volunteer for several other nonprofit organizations. Angela's greatest strengths are her drive and leadership to create sustainable change. When she is not doing the work she loves for our students, Angela enjoys reading, spending time with her family and giving back to the community.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

ANNE ZANZUCCHI

Professor and Associate Dean, School of Social Sciences, Humanities, and Arts UC Merced

Anne Zanzucchi is a Writing Studies teaching professor at UC Merced and currently serves as the Associate Dean of the School of Social Sciences, Humanities and Arts. Her scholarship and teaching focuses on pedagogy, literacy, assessment and digital media, with publications about multimedia theory and practice, academic writing support for historically underrepresented students and the development of information literacy in advanced writers. Federal and foundation grants have supported collaborative campus projects focused on future faculty initiatives, graduate writing support, undergraduate literacy assessment and community-engaged projects. Anne is also implementing UC Merced's degree completion program, the first of its kind in the UC system and part of a network of associated projects for reentry students.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

BIANCA KHANONA

Assistant Vice Chancellor, Financial Planning and Analysis

UC Merced Campus

Bianca joined University of California, Merced in November 2019 as Associate Vice Chancellor of Financial Planning and Analysis, reporting to the Vice Chancellor and Interim CFO overseeing overall campus budget and financial resources. She manages Academic Budget and Policy, Administrative Budget and Policy, Long range Planning, Capital and Debt service, Cost policy and Recharge.

Prior to joining Higher Education, she spent over fifteen years in various financial management roles in privately held companies such as E. & J. Gallo Winery. She has held positions in Sales Finance, Corporate Finance, Operation Finance, Revenue management and Accounting. Bianca earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration and a Master of Business Administration degree and is Lean Six Sigma Green Belt and Lean practitioner certified.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

DELIA SAENZ

Vice Chancellor & Chief Diversity Officer Office of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion UC Merced Campus

Dr. Delia Saenz is the inaugural vice chancellor and chief diversity officer at UC Merced. She describes herself as a Texan by birth, a social psychologist by training and a Chicana by heritage.

Vice Chancellor Saenz received her Ph.D. in Social Psychology from Princeton University and has held administrative and faculty appointments at Arizona State University, Bennington College and Notre Dame University. Her areas of expertise include organizational effectiveness, group processes, social identity and culture. Across her career, her scholarly work, teaching and service have advanced the understanding of difference as a social concept and the optimization of learning and working in diverse, multi-level contexts.

Dr. Saenz has been recognized for her contributions to the broadening of participation of underrepresented populations across educational and work domains. In addition, she has been recognized numerous times for outstanding teaching and mentoring, and for significant contributions to the professional development of students of color. Dr. Saenz has received grants from the National Science Foundation, the US Agency for International Development, the National Institutes of Health, the Ford Foundation, Google and others.

She joins the UC Merced family from Arizona State University, where she served as Chief Diversity Officer for the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

DENA BULLARD

Senior Director, Health Sciences Workforce and Innovation, UC Health UC Office of the President

Dena Bullard is the Senior Director for Health Sciences and Workforce Innovation at the UC Office of the President, where she has worked since 2004. In this role, she serves as a senior advisor to the Vice President and provides systemwide oversight, issues management and coordination of health sciences and workforce planning, program and policy issues for UC's 20 health professional schools, including advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion. She has also conducted extensive research and written several reports about statewide health workforce shortages and about UC health sciences education and health professional practice needs in California. These reports have helped build the case for enrollment growth at UC after more than three decades, through the development of new health professional schools and new educational programs focused on underserved communities.

Prior to joining UCOP, she has held health policy positions at the California Primary Care Association in Sacramento and the Health Resources and Services Administration in the US Department of Health and Human Services. Dena is passionate about social justice, health equity, increasing access to care for the underserved and expanding health sciences educational opportunities for underrepresented groups.

She is a long-serving member of the Black Staff and Faculty Organization and has served on the President's Advisory Committee on the Status of Women. She is also a member of the American Council on Education Women's Network Northern California where she serves as a member of the board, and she also represents the university on several statewide coalitions and workgroups. Dena received her bachelor's degree from Berkeley and her master's degree from the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

ELIZABETH TRASK

Director of Business Operations, Information Technology Services Division

UC Santa Cruz

Liz Trask is the Director of Business Operations for UC Santa Cruz's division of Information Technology Services. In her current role, Liz has oversight of business operations & administration, space & facilities, software licensing, operational resiliency and recharge billing. Liz has worked for UC Santa Cruz for 16 years, starting her career as a student employee in the Jack Baskin School of Engineering Business Office while working to complete her B.Sc. in Molecular, Cellular and Developmental Biology with a minor in Chemistry. In her tenure at UCSC she has held various roles including: DNA Sequencing Center Coordinator, Cancer Genome Hub Administrator, School of Engineering Research Analyst and ITS Billing Analyst.

Liz serves as a policy and process expert, supporting the ITS division in navigating complex policies and existing workflows. She works to implement novel and improved processes that take into account the ever-changing landscape of higher education balanced with UCSC business needs and ITS specific considerations.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

ERIC GIEGERICH

Director, Industry Alliances Office UC Berkeley

Eric is the Director of UC Berkeley's Industry Alliances Office. The IAO facilitates industry-university research collaboration, including negotiating a variety of research agreements with Berkeley's industry partners. He has also created an Innovation Services offering to support innovation and entrepreneurship programs, including startup accelerators with third party funding contracts. A recent achievement was a contract for a Berkeley-branded startup accelerator program in Milan, Italy, including a commercial trademark license.

Eric's professional interests include innovative collaboration models, high tech, data, software, the metaverse, economics, international agreements and bringing great ideas to the marketplace for the public good. He is active in the Association of University Technology Managers (AUTM), the grass roots Industry Contract Officers Network (ICON) and currently leads a grass roots directors group for industry contracts offices, the University Industry Working Group (UIWG).

Eric is a JD candidate (a rising 3L) at the UNH Franklin Pierce School of Law Hybrid JD Program. This ABA-approved experimental hybrid program is among the first of its kind in the nation, and it's the only such program focusing on intellectual property. He attends law school "immersions" in Concord, NH four times a year. His legal interests include copyright, trademark, contracts, international law, constitutional law, privacy, free speech and critical legal studies.

Eric enjoys reading in philosophy, history, law, literature and psychology, and taking regular hikes in the mountains near his home in Sonoma County. He lives with his wife and their cat. Their daughter just graduated from Whitman College in Washington State.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

ERUM ABBASI SYED

Executive Assistant Dean, Graduate Studies UC Davis

Erum Abbasi Syed serves as the Executive Assistant Dean for UC Davis Graduate Studies. In her role, Abbasi Syed serves as the lead staff administrator in strategic planning and overall management, spearheading strategic vision planning that affects graduate student life, student resources, student success and developmental experiences on campus. She leads strategic and financial planning, forecasting, organizational development, facilities management, risk management, information technology and human resource management for Graduate Studies. Abbasi Syed is responsible for leading efforts in the area of diversity, equity and inclusion, and supports the associate dean of graduate programs in their oversight of the academic programs. In addition, Abbasi-Syed serves as a liaison with the systemwide University of California, UC Davis communities, and in an executive leadership position representing the Vice Provost/Dean of Graduate Studies.

Abbasi Syed earned her bachelor's degree in Business Administration, with an emphasis in Finance, from University of Colorado, Denver and master's in Business Administration from California State University, Sacramento. She has worked in higher education administration since 2003 at UCLA School of Law, Princeton University and UC Davis' College of Letters and Science.

During her time at UC Davis, she has participated in several campus-wide committees and initiatives, including serving on the Staff Diversity Administrative Advisory Committee (SDAAC); participating in the University of California Women's Initiative for Professional Development (UCWI); representing UC Davis; designing and leading a First-Year Aggie Connection; and serving on the 2014 Working Group on Diversity & Inclusivity. Abbasi Syed has been awarded several division, college and campus-level awards and honors, including the Social Sciences Dean's Staff Accomplishment Award, Disability Awareness Team Award and the Chancellor's Staff Excellence Award.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

FARIDA LADA

Chief Campus Compliance Officer UC San Francisco

Farida is the first Chief Campus Compliance Officer at the University of California San Francisco (UCSF). In this role, she led the restructuring of the ethics, compliance and audit governance structure, manages the operations of the governance committees, works collaboratively with all units responsible for compliance operations and oversees the functional units within the Office of Ethics and Compliance. Prior to joining UCSF, Farida was the Associate

University Provost for Research Administration and Compliance at the City University of New York (CUNY), where she provided leadership in policy development and operations within CUNY's Office of Research, participated in strategic planning and development of new initiatives and led CUNY's research administration and compliance programs.

Farida was also the Founding Academic Director and Adjunct Professor of the master's and Advanced Certificate Programs in Research Administration and Compliance programs at CUNY School of Professional Studies. Prior to that, Farida was the Director of Research Compliance at Weill Cornell Medical College in Qatar, where she had the opportunity to work with the Qatari government and funding agency to develop local regulations for protecting research subjects.

Farida has a PhD in Governance and Policy Analysis from Maastricht University, an MBA from University of Louisville and a BS in Biology from University of Texas at Arlington.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

HEATHER BORTFELD

Professor and Chair, Psychology Sciences UC Merced

Heather Bortfeld is Professor and Chair of Psychological Sciences, and Professor of Cognitive and Information Sciences. Her research focuses on speech processing and language learning in both typically developing infants and young children, and in infants and children who are deaf or hard-of-hearing. This work includes efforts to improve accessibility to programs that support deaf or hard-of-hearing children with developmental impairments and investigation of environmental and other factors associated with postnatal hearing loss.

Professor Bortfeld received her Ph.D. in Experimental Psychology at State University of New York, Stony Brook and trained as a postdoctoral fellow in Cognitive Science at Brown University, where she was supported by a National Research Service Award from the National Institutes of Health. She arrived at UC Merced in 2015 after serving on the faculty at Texas A&M University and the University of Connecticut.

She has been a pioneer in the development of functional near-infrared spectroscopy (fNIRS), a non-invasive, optical imaging technique that allows researchers to measure changes in brain activation in populations not easily imaged using magnetic resonance imaging (MRI), such as infants and young children. In addition to promoting fNIRS to the broader developmental research community, she has trained otolaryngologists, audiologists and speech-language pathologists to use fNIRS as a tool for assessing brain responsivity and plasticity in both pre- and post-lingually deafened cochlear implant users. Because cochlear implant users are not able to be near the magnetic field generated by MRI, fNIRS provides an important alternative for imaging this population.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

HEIDI WAGNER

Assistant Dean, Finance and Administration, Division of Biological Sciences UC Berkeley

Heidi Wagner currently serves as the Assistant Dean for Finance and Administration in the Division of Biological Sciences at the University of California, Berkeley. She has over 20 years of experience in leadership and operations in higher education settings having served in a variety of roles ranging from receptionist at a small grant-funded research center to Chief Administrative Officer for a large, complex division. In her current role, Heidi serves as Chief of Staff and Executive Advisor for division and department leadership on financial and administrative policies and strategies. She devises creative approaches to resource allocation and management that enables the programmatic objectives to thrive. She enjoys working on projects that bring various stakeholders together and result in large-scale change.

Heidi has previously served as the Assistant Dean at the UC Berkeley School of Social Welfare and as the department manager at the University of Minnesota School of Social Work.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

JAY OLSON

Academic Services Portfolio Director, Information Technology Services UC Santa Cruz

Jay spent the first 20 years of his UCSC career providing IT services to the Humanities Division. He loved the day-to-day interaction with faculty and the scrappy way they could use their small team to solve problems for the division. It was engaging and rewarding work where he spent most of his time as an individual contributor and a front-line supervisor. He became the

Divisional Liaison for Humanities IT in 2018

While still the DL of Humanities, at the start of the pandemic, he noticed that many people on campus were laying off their student workers. He was deeply concerned about the wellbeing of these students and sought out work that these students might be able to do remotely. He determined that large zoom meetings are awful unless they are effectively managed by someone who is not the primary speaker and determined that students could be good at managing zoom meetings for remote classes. He approached several student worker managers and asked them to donate their student labor to him and his mission to enable our faculty to deliver high quality remote instruction to our students. From that, Zoom Corps was born with a healthy population of 60 student workers and many academic IT staff coming forward to help manage the process. Faculty who were assisted by Zoom Corps were very appreciative and the learning experience was aided by their work. Today the Zoom Corps still operates (without the donated labor) but the demand has diminished so they are applied to a variety of 'surge support' projects for ITS.

Prior to the pandemic, UCSC began a major IT reorganization. ITS interviewed and hired two internal 'interim portfolio managers'. Jay was one of the successful candidates. Eventually, he became permanent in the role but had transitioned from 'interim portfolio manager of specialized business products' to 'portfolio manager of IT services & academic computing'.

This past fall, he became the 'portfolio manager for academic IT services', reducing his scope of responsibility to providing research, instruction and divisional services. The past several years have presented Jay with the opportunity to think a lot about organizational design and to execute that design as best as can be done given the restraints at play.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

JAYSON BEASTER-JONES

Chair and Professor, Global Arts Media Writing Studies Department

UC Merced

Jayson Beaster-Jones is a Professor of Music in the Global Arts Studies Program at the University of California, Merced. He is an anthropologist and ethnomusicologist whose work focuses upon the music and film industries of India. His first book, entitled Bollywood Sounds: The Cosmopolitan Mediations of Hindi Film Song (2015, Oxford University Press), explores 70 years of Bollywood film songs and their musical and social meanings. His second book, Music Commodities, Markets, and Values: Music as Merchandise (2016, Routledge), examines music retail stores as sites of cultural production in contemporary India. His current book project, Dil Chahta Hai and the Rock Aesthetic (forthcoming, Bloomsbury), focuses upon the 2001 Bollywood film soundtrack Dil Chahta Hai and its influence on Hindi language film song in the first decades of the 21st century.

In addition to co-editing the volume Music in Contemporary Indian Film (2017, Routledge), he is a co-editor of the Oxford Handbook of Music Industry Studies (forthcoming, Oxford University Press) and numerous journal articles. More recently, his research has focused upon the relationship between music, memory and aging, particularly among adults who have experienced cognitive decline.

Beaster-Jones is also the Primary Investigator of the Gateway to Merced Project, an interdisciplinary humanities oral history project that collects and represents the vastly diverse experiences of Merced County residents in a variety of media. At UC Merced, he served a year as chair of Humanities and World Cultures bylaw unite and four years as the chair of the Department of Global Arts, Media and Writing Studies.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

JORDAN CATHEY

Director of Systemwide Operations, UC Health UC Office of the President

Jordan Cathey has served the University of California in a variety of healthcare operational leadership positions for 7+ years. He spent 4.5 years with UCSF Health and is in his third year at UCOP's UC Health Division. He currently serves as Director of Systemwide Operations reporting to the Chief Transformation Officer for the health system. Jordan had the privilege to support Dr. Carrie Byington and her leadership team throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, a time with UC that he feels was most rewarding.

Jordan lives in the El Dorado Hills area of Northern California with his wife, Jessica, and their two children, Raya (5) and Cruz (2). Outside of work he enjoys cycling, swimming and spending time with family.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

JULIE SHARP

Director, Institutional Animal Care & User Program

UC San Francisco

Dr. Julie Sharp is the Director of the Institutional Animal Care and Use Program (IACUP) at University of California, San Francisco. Leading the IACUP staff since 2020, she works with the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC) in pursuit of their mission of “Advancing Health Worldwide” by promoting humane care and use of animal research subjects. In this role, she collaborates with faculty and research staff to facilitate their research endeavors while focusing on program and process improvements to reduce regulatory and administrative burden.

Dr. Sharp has been deeply involved in animal care and use programs at both public and private academic medical centers since 2003, holding animal welfare leadership positions with the Duke University Medical Center, the University of Pennsylvania and the Research Foundation for the SUNY Downstate Health Sciences University.

She received her Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree from North Carolina State University and her Bachelor of Science degree in Molecular Biology from Westminster College. After transitioning from private practice to laboratory animal medicine, she became a Certified Professional IACUC Administrator, a Diplomate of the American College of Laboratory Animal Medicine and serves as an AAALAC International ad hoc Specialist.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

KAJA SEHRT

Chief Development Officer, Office of Research

UC Berkeley

Kaja Sehrt is the Chief Development Officer in the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Research at UC Berkeley. She partners with senior academic leaders to create compelling proposals and successful strategies to raise funds for multi-disciplinary, strategic initiatives and coordinates the development and fundraising efforts of interdisciplinary research centers, institutes, and programs.

Prior to her current position she served as Assistant Dean for Development in International and Area Studies and as Director of Program Development at UC Berkeley's Institute of East Asian Studies. She taught at Dartmouth College prior to joining UC Berkeley. Dr. Sehrt's research has focused on economic reforms in the People's Republic of China, especially banking and finance. Her Ph.D. is from the University of Michigan.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

KARL JANDREY

Associate Dean for Admissions and Student Programs, School of Veterinary Medicine UC Davis

Dr. Karl Jandrey is a board-certified specialist in small animal emergency and critical care. He completed a Master of Advanced Studies in Clinical Research through the Mentored Clinical Research Training Program, supported by the National Institutes of Health, to train clinician scientists.

This collaborative, multi-specialty program of veterinarians, physicians, and post-doctoral researchers was sponsored by the University of California-Davis Clinical and Translational Science Center and the School of Medicine. He continues to build on his master's work through the translational study of the underlying mechanisms of thromboembolism in cats with hypertrophic cardiomyopathy. His other clinical research interests revolve around point-of-care assessment of coagulation and hemostasis in dogs and cats. He teaches house officers and veterinary students in the Emergency Room and the Intensive Care Unit of the Veterinary Medical Teaching Hospital. He also is the Associate Dean for Admissions and Student Programs in the School of Veterinary Medicine.

He shares his life and home with 2 old Burmese cats, a beautiful saltwater reef, a seahorse tank, a perfect Yellow Lab and a very accomplished veterinary clinician-scientist

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

KAY OBERMEIER

Director of Finance, Faculty Practice Finance UC San Francisco

Kay Obermeier is the Finance Director for the physician organization at UCSF Health. In this capacity, he is responsible for financial analysis, reporting, budgeting, long-range strategic planning and financial modeling for future investments. He has played a key role in the continued development of the financial reporting and planning for the faculty practice organization since its transition from the School of Medicine to the UC health system.

Before joining UCSF Health in 2016, Kay was the Senior Finance Director overseeing the financial analysis team for North and South America at Hitachi Vantara headquartered in Silicon Valley, a global provider of high-end data storage solutions, analytical software, managed cloud and consulting services. He also served as the CFO for the German subsidiary of Hitachi Data Systems and was responsible for accounting, financial planning, legal, procurement, facilities and HR operations. Prior to his work at Hitachi, Kay worked as a R&D Financial Controller in the pharmaceutical industry in Frankfurt, Germany. He started his professional career in New York City as the Assistant Controller for a home furnishing and interior design company.

Kay is passionate about enabling top and bottom-line growth by partnering with business leaders and operations managers by 'telling the story behind the numbers'. He earned an MBA and a Master of Mechanical Engineering at the University of Braunschweig in Germany. Kay currently lives with his wife and 14-year-old son in San Francisco.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

LAURA SHAW

Senior Business Operations and Assurance Manager, SES Division Office

Lawrence Berkeley National Lab

Laura Shaw has over 15 years of experience in corporate security, compliance, operational risk management, governance, business operations and issues management. Laura joined Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory (LBNL) in 2019 and holds the position of Senior Business Operations and Assurance Manager for the Security & Emergency Services (SES) Division. In this role, she is a key member of the SES Division's senior management team overseeing and ensuring effective execution of the division-wide budget, assurance programs, strategic priorities, business operations, workforce management and procurement.

Prior to this role, she was the LBNL Risk and Issues Program Manager in the Office of Institutional Assurance & Integrity (OIAI) where she provided her leadership and expertise to support the development and implementation of the Issues Management Program, as well as supporting the Risk Management and Employee Concerns Programs. Before joining LBNL, Laura was in the banking industry leading and managing risk and compliance with the objective of promoting a culture of proactive identification of risks and issues. In addition, Laura has a foundational accounting background where she has worked as a staff accountant for nonprofit and for-profit organizations.

Laura holds a master's in Business Administration from Mills College with an emphasis on Sustainability. Laura received her Bachelor of Arts degree from San Francisco State University in Environmental Studies focusing on the Urban Environment. Laura is an avid volunteer, working with Mills College, and the Bay Area community, specifically food banks, entrepreneurship organizations, and community gardens in low-income communities. Laura grew up in the Bay Area, and her biggest accomplishment to date is her family.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

LORETTA EZEIFE

Chief Financial Officer, Haas School of Business

UC Berkeley

Dr. Loretta Ezeife serves as the Chief Financial Officer(CFO) for Haas School of Business. She has over 20 years of experience in financial leadership roles, both in private and public institutions. Since joining the UC family in 2010, she has led strategic planning, budget, forecast and report development for various departments including Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory, Recreational Sports, Student Affairs and University Development and Alumni Relations as well as Parking & Transportation where Loretta led the implementation of innovative technologies as the Project Manager for the mobile Pay by Phone app, License Plate Recognition, eTicketbook, Loop count and Smartphone app enforcement.

Loretta obtained a doctorate degree in Business Administration from Walden University, a master's in Business Administration from Golden Gate University and a Bachelor of Science in Accounting from CSU, Hayward. She also earned a Certificate in Business Analysis from UC Berkeley Extension. In her spare time, Loretta enjoys spending quality time with her family and traveling.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

MARCIA OCON LEIMER

Senior Manager, HR Field Services Lawrence Berkeley National Lab

Marcia holds a Master of Arts degree in Leadership from Saint Mary's College with a concentration in Coaching for Organizational Learning and Change. Currently, she serves on the HR Leadership Team at Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory as a Senior Manager for HR Field Services. Her team supports HR strategy in support of compensation, workforce planning and development, and the integration of Inclusion, Diversity, Equity and Accountability (IDEA) values and principles into HR practices and organizational consultation. She is passionate about supporting positive and productive work experiences to help individuals and organizations thrive.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

MICHAEL TASSIO

Director of Online Education and Chief of Staff to the Vice Provost for Academic Affairs UC Santa Cruz

Michael has spent his entire career in public higher education working to create teams that are driven by a sense of purpose and with a commitment to social justice. He was the inaugural director of UCSC Online Education, which over its short history has transformed UCSC's ability to provide access to online learning experiences that are inclusive and engaging. The strategic use of online learning has resulted in a five-fold increase in summer enrollment, and a catalog of freely open courses that reaches hundreds of thousands of learners annually.

Michael is an avid student of philosophy, and he has held positions teaching writing and art, as well as having worked within a research center and the faculty governance structure of the UC system.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

MICHAEL USHER

Network Manager, Information Technology Services

UC Santa Cruz

Michael Usher is a Silicon Valley veteran with over thirty years' experience eliminating the roadblocks to adoption of new technologies. His focus is on computer systems, networking and communications. He has worked at the University of Sydney in both the Faculty of Engineering and the Department of IT Services, OPTUS Communications, Cisco Systems and consulting businesses.

Michael joined UCSC in 2017 with responsibility for campus networking services from 2019. He graduated from the University of Sydney and is currently enrolled at UCSC.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

SAMUEL BISHOP-GREEN

Chief of Staff, Betty Irene Moore School of Nursing

UC Davis Health

Sam Bishop-Green is the chief of staff at the Betty Irene Moore School of Nursing at UC Davis. He works with the dean, faculty and staff to develop and implement long-range strategic plans and policies for the school. Prior to joining the School of Nursing, he was one of the initial staff members of the UC Davis Preferred Partnership Program (UP3), responsible for the management of campus-wide partnerships and development of new partnerships and revenue streams. Prior to UP3, Sam had additional experience on the UC Davis campus with the Graduate School of Management and Intercollegiate Athletics.

Sam has also served in leadership roles with Staff Assembly, and on several campus committees. Sam began his UC service in Intercollegiate Athletics at UC Berkeley. Sam earned both a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in Business Administration from UC Davis.

2022 UC-CORO Systemwide Leadership Collaborative

TERRI HARRIS

Executive Director, Center of Business Services & Solutions, Division of Finance and Administration

UC Merced

Terri serves as the Executive Director of the Center for Business Services and Solutions (CBS2), UC Merced's Shared Services unit. As the Executive Director of CBS2 she ensures consistent, high-quality administrative support for UC Merced in the areas of procurement, travel, finance and human resources. The Center for Business Services and Solutions (CBS2) is unique in its ability to effectively centralize administrative support across the UC Merced campus and has continuously expanded on the University's vision of providing consistent, high-quality administrative support through process standardization and a customized approach to customer relationship building that assist in building and maintaining strong relationships with UC Merced staff, faculty, vendors and students.

Terri currently possesses executive level financial credentials developed through a grounded, yet rapidly progressing career in Higher Education in the areas of Research Administration, Financial Management, Business Services and now Directorship. She has a keen sense of developing staff in order to create collaborative and responsive teams aligned with UC objectives and initiatives paired with a master's in Business Administration and a Bachelor of Science in Accounting.